

APPLY BEFORE
NOVEMBER 3, 2025

EUREKA SERIES

Prepare to join professional writers' rooms and master the unique demands of serial storytelling — through a collaborative European training experience.

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

A 6-week course for emerging European screenwriters, combining expert tutoring, writers' room simulations, and industry insights.

PART 1 - Collaborative Writing

Combining theoretical input on serial development and practical exercises in various writers' rooms, participants improve their ability to collaborate, navigate creative discussions, and construct engaging narratives – all under the guidance of experienced industry professionals.

Key aspects:

- Fundamentals of serial dramaturgy
- Ideation and selection of strong series ideas
- Finding and exploring core themes
- Building strong characters & conflicts
- Structuring compelling season arcs & pilot

PART 2 - Industry Insights

Exclusive access to Series Mania Forum, Europe's major industry event.

Highlights include:

- Networking tips and opportunities
- AI as a creative partner
- Writing with a sustainable impact
- Masterclasses with top professionals
- High-level panels and screenings

WHO CAN APPLY

European screenwriters, having already written a script (TV series, web series, short film, feature film, or animation), whether produced or not.

FORMAT

From February 17th to March 27th, 2026
6 weeks / 25 days / 175 hours in total
In Lille, France
In English

FEES

1800€ incl. taxes

Limited income-based bursaries of up to €750 may be awarded by Series Mania Institute.
Eligible for AFDAS funding for French participants.

APPLY HERE

Series Mania Institute
smi@seriesmania.com

10 Rue des Poissonceaux, 59800 Lille, France